This new class of Marigolds combines the garden performance and early flowering of French types with the very large flowers and strong plant structure of African types. Garden height of these beauties is 12 to 14". The plants are well branched with thick, strong stems. Double flower types are excellent for garden and landscape planting. The Daisy types have an open habit that allows them to co-mingle with companion plants and add strong color to mixed containers. Flowers are abundant, large and long lasting. The Double types are over 2" across. Daisy types measure from 2 to 3". Available as Advanced Vigor™ or Detailed Seeds.
